

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Mark Winter
248.258.2333
mwinter@identitypr.com

THREE-LEGGED MARE TO BRING IRISH CHARM TO ARENA DISTRICT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, November 14, 2011 – The Three-Legged Mare will be the latest addition to the Arena District when it opens this winter, bringing a distinctive Irish-themed menu and a proven formula for success.

Nationwide Realty Investors President and COO Brian J. Ellis shared that Three-Legged Mare owners—Natalie Darr, Michael Darr and Danny Cappocia—who own and manage the Arena District’s R Bar, are already hard at work on the new space.

The 5,300 square foot renovated space, formerly occupied by O’Shaughnessy’s Public House, will feature more than 40 draft beers, a second bar upstairs which will accommodate private parties and a stage for live music.

“We will have great food. I mean great food,” says Darr. “Everything will be fresh, never frozen. If you’ve been to the R Bar, you know that our ownership team focuses on creating great experiences. You will see the same hands-on approach and attention to detail at the Three-Legged Mare.”

Open for lunch and dinner daily, the pub will also cater to international sports fans, kicking off business as early as 7 a.m. on certain days of the week for European soccer and rugby matches. Entrees will be priced between $8-12 and signature items will include a Guinness barbecue sauce, shepherd’s pie and fresh seafood.

“If you are a hockey fan, you know the R Bar,” said Ellis. “We know that this ownership team is committed to making the Three-Legged Mare another big success. They understand this market and its opportunities.”

For more information about the Arena District visit www.arenadistrict.com.

NRI is the real estate development affiliate of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company and the developer of the $750 million, mixed-use Arena District and Grandview Yard in Columbus, Ohio. Directly and through joint ventures, NRI owns more than $1 billion in real estate investments. For more information on the NRI, visit www.nationwiderealtyinvestors.com.