Developed by Nationwide Realty Investors, Jerome Village will have around 2,200 single-and multi-family housing units.

THE COLUMBUS DISPATCH

The 2013 Parade of Homes will be held in Jerome Village in Union County, the Building Industry Association of Central Ohio announced today.

The parade will be held June 15 – 30 in the 1,400-acre community being developed by Nationwide Realty Investors. The community, launched in late 2010, is planned to rival Muirfield Village and New Albany Co. in scale, with 2,500 homes, a town center, parks and schools.

The first occupants have just moved into Jerome Village, which now has three builders: Schottenstein Homes, Compass Homes and 3 Pillar Homes.

Builders have not been announced for next year's parade.

This year's Parade of Homes, in the Meadows of Lewis Center, features 12 builders. The parade ends Sunday. ■
